RECRUITMENT SPECIALISTS

EXPECT MORE

With over 15 years of experience, LinkPoint Resources not only delivers the right calibre of candidates at short notice but provides you with dedicated support throughout the recruitment process.

LinkPoint Resources started from a desire to add real value to our clients' businesses, appreciating that candidates and clients alike have specific needs and therefore should be treated as individuals. We recognise each project's unique requirements and work with respect and understanding to deliver beyond expectations.

This approach has led to the constant development of our methods while keeping our core focus and values intact. We believe that building close working relationships with our clients is vital to our success and our consultants are always available to provide valuable advice and support when needed.

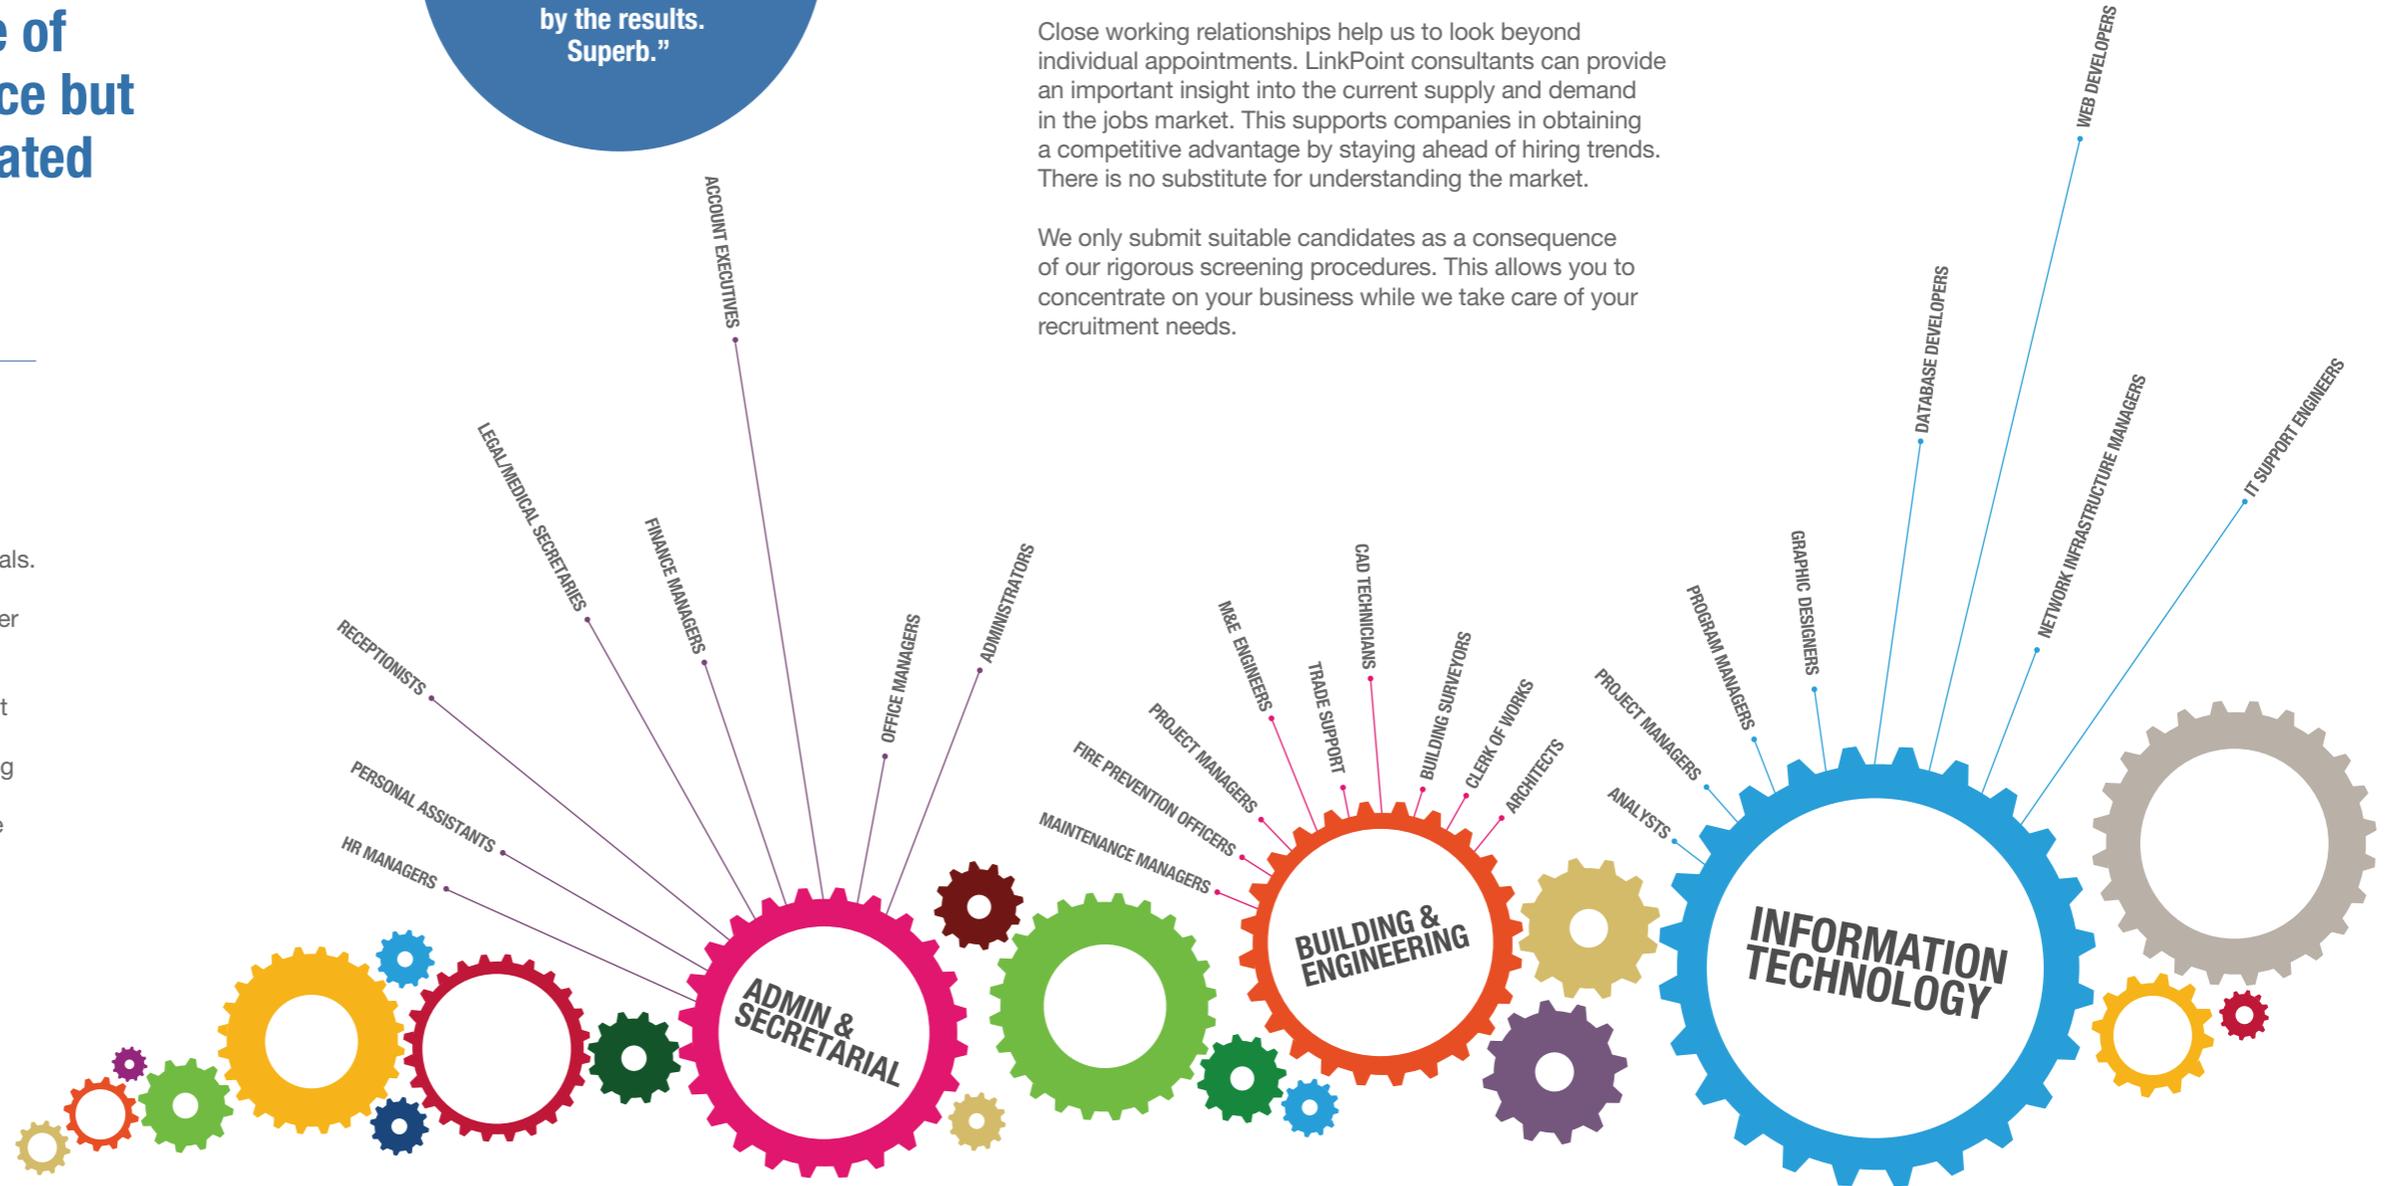

"The professionalism and attention to detail shown by LinkPoint was matched by the results. Superb."

THE DIFFERENCE

Our consultants are highly skilled with significant experience in their field. Their expert knowledge is invaluable, enabling them to understand thoroughly the exact skills and requirements that each role demands.

Close working relationships help us to look beyond individual appointments. LinkPoint consultants can provide an important insight into the current supply and demand in the jobs market. This supports companies in obtaining a competitive advantage by staying ahead of hiring trends. There is no substitute for understanding the market.

We only submit suitable candidates as a consequence of our rigorous screening procedures. This allows you to concentrate on your business while we take care of your recruitment needs.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

By its very nature, the IT industry experiences constant change and the demand for key personnel with specific skills continues to grow. Our dedicated team of IT recruitment consultants prides itself on the ability to source individuals with the highest level of knowledge and experience by keeping abreast of developments within the technology sector.

We supply contract and temporary IT personnel at all levels across all industry sectors.

BUILDING & ENGINEERING

Our specialist recruitment consultants have real industry experience within the Building and Engineering sector. Their technical knowledge ensures the right candidates, with the correct skills and expertise, are sourced appropriately, providing your organisation with the market knowledge to enrich your team.

We deal in both permanent and contract positions and are fully committed to understanding your requirements in order to provide the best possible solution.

ADMIN & SECRETARIAL

We understand that it is of paramount importance to source the appropriate candidate and to respond quickly to your requests. At LinkPoint Resources we have a dedicated database of leading Admin and Secretarial staff, from junior to senior personnel, in order to deliver results efficiently and effectively.

We recruit across all areas of office administration and secretarial support, whether on a full or part time basis.

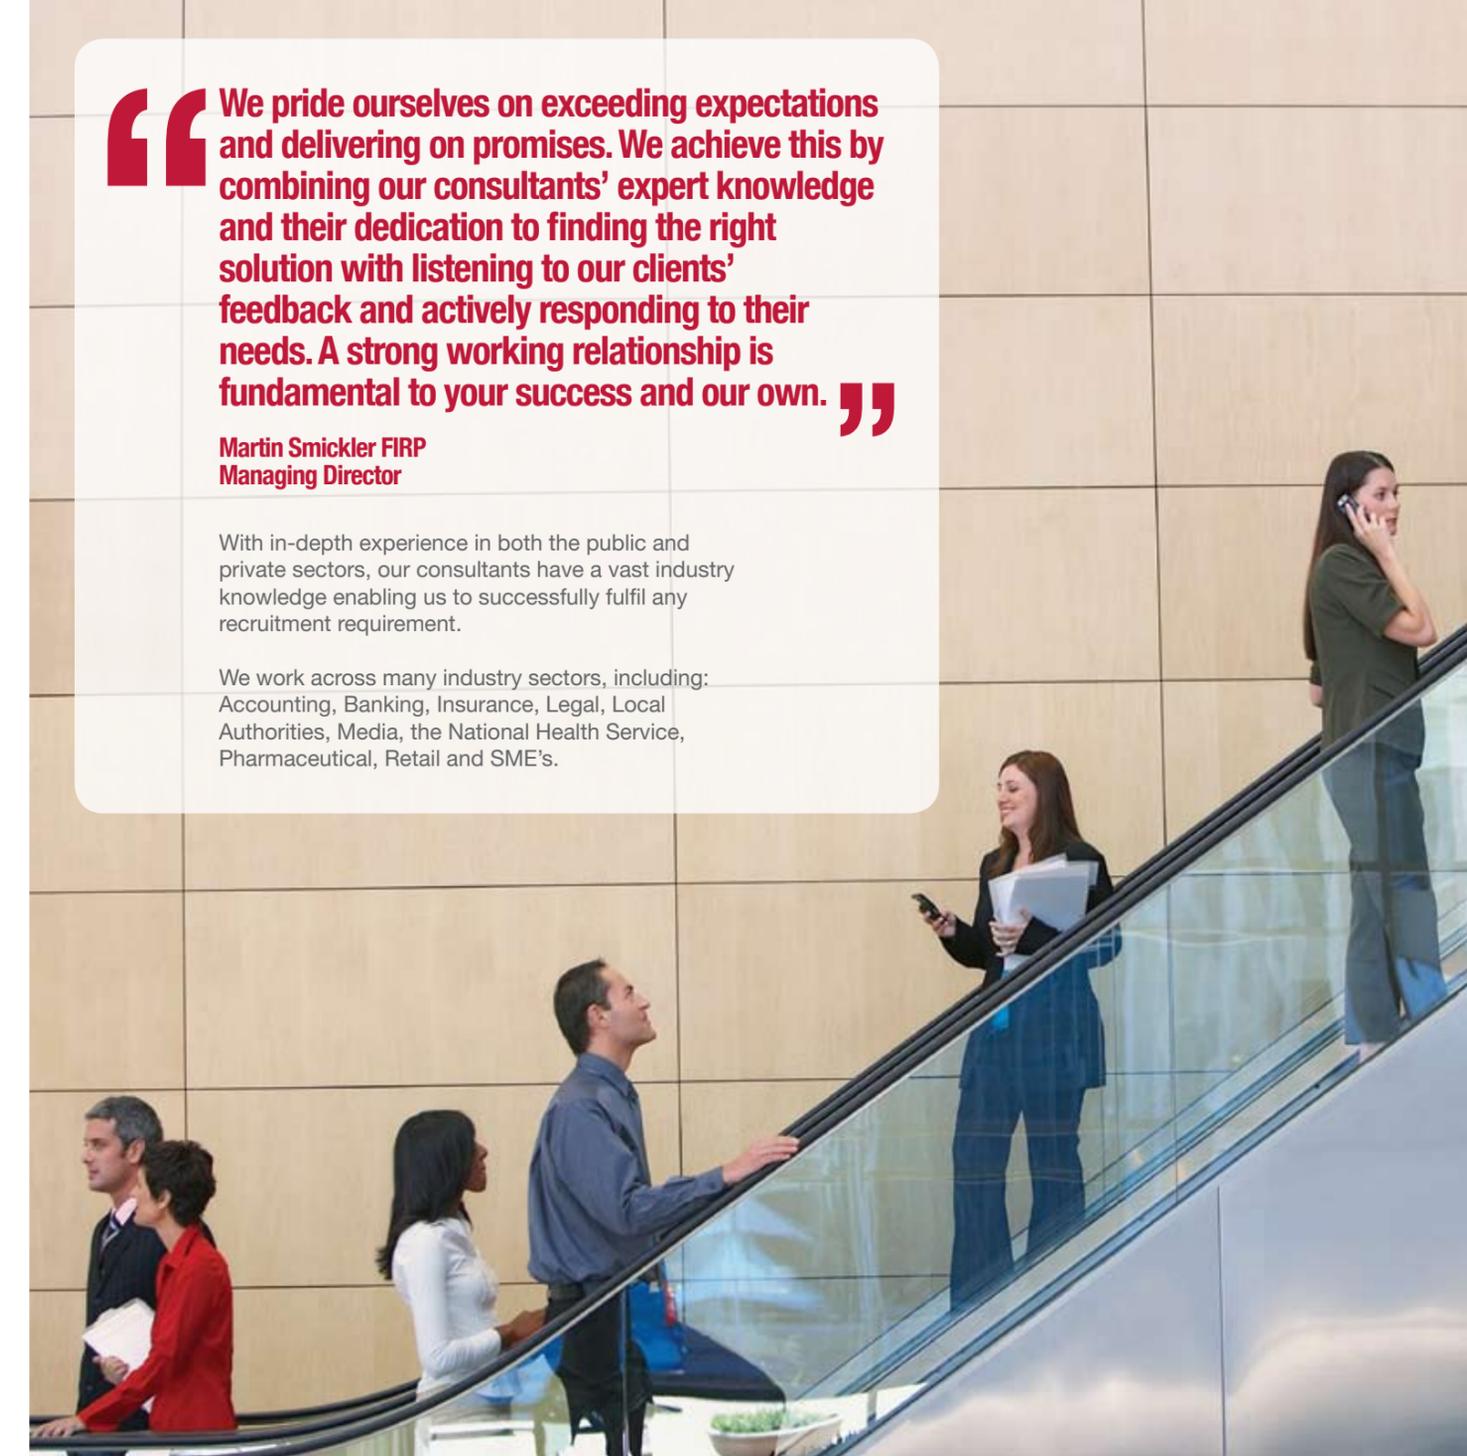

"We pride ourselves on exceeding expectations and delivering on promises. We achieve this by combining our consultants' expert knowledge and their dedication to finding the right solution with listening to our clients' feedback and actively responding to their needs. A strong working relationship is fundamental to your success and our own."

Martin Smickler FIRP
